Green's Paint, Wallpaper Store Getting New Front

SPRUCING UP: Another Harrisburg building is in the process of getting a new front. It's the building that houses Green's Paint and Wallpaper store on North Main street.

The old front already's been torn out and new one will be there in its place one of these days Wayne Greene has faith in our future.

SOME TIME BACK I got a clipping which concerns a local young man which was interesting. The clipping was from Jonesboro, Ark., it having appeared in the newspaper there.

Local young man concerned was Jimmy D. Froman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Froman, who at the time was teaching in the dependent high schools in France and who now is in England.

Here is the clipping: "Elmer Mayes, science instructor at Jonesboro high, says his respect for postal clerks has been increased.

"Mr. Mayes got a package the other day addressed as follows: "Destinataire

"Mr. Elmer Mayer
"601 Woelland
"Jonesboro
"Prskansas.

"How they ever got the package to me is amazing," said Mr. Mayes. The clerk who wrote "Try Arkansas" on the label sure had some imagination."

"The package came from France. The sender was Jimmy D. Froman (his name on the return address was misspelled, too) of Illinois. He and Mr. Mayes were roommates at Oak Ridge, Tenn., in the summer of 1956 when both science teachers were there to study Atomic energy.

"They became fast friends. Mr. Froman visited here in September before going to France as an instructor at a U. S. Air Force base school. While visiting here he and Craig Mayes, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mayes, became buddies.

"Mr. Froman was sending Craig a pair of French-made shoes."

"The only thing I can figure out is that Jimmy bought the shoes in a French store and left them for the store to mail," Mr. Mayes commented. "He must have written down our address and his own return address. The clerk, not being too familiar with the way we write and with the towns and states over here, just figured it out the best way he could, and this is what he came up with."

"The address was typewritten on the package. We agreed that the guy who figured Jonesboro, Arkansas, out of Ionesboro, Prskansas, did a pretty fair day's work."

"The shoes, incidentally, arrived in good shape, though the package showed signs it had 'through the mill' as everyone tried to figure out where it should go."

Olin Mathieson Expert Predicts Rocket to Moon Within Year

Speaks at 18th Annual Meeting of Southern Illinois Inc.

CARTERVILLE, Ill. (UP) — A rocket fuel expert said he believes the rocket industry will be ready for a flight to the moon within a year.

Dr. C. James Barr, assistant director of research and development of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation's solid propellant organization, made the prediction Thursday night.

He spoke at the 18th annual meeting of Southern Illinois Inc., an area development group.

"In my opinion, the rocket industry stands ready to build the first rocket to the moon," Barr said. He added later that he thought the flight would come within a year but did not say if it would be a manned flight.

"We expect to conclude development activities in the near future which will give us rocket engines suitable for limited space travel," Barr said.

Barr said rocket industry sales

Youth Lists 11 Slayings

GERING, Neb. (AP)—Mass killer Charles Starkweather has admitted murdering 11 persons in two states because of a "hatred that built up in me," authorities said today.

"Since I was a child I wanted to be an outlaw, but I didn't want it to go this far," the 19-year-old Lincoln, Neb., sharpshooter told authorities.

Sheriff Merle Karnopp of Lincoln said Starkweather made the statements Thursday night during their trip by car from Douglas, Wyo., to Gering.

Earlier, Wyoming officials surrendered jurisdiction over Starkweather and his 14-year-old sweetheart, Caril Fugate, for prosecution in Nebraska.

Starkweather, a stocky, red-haired gunman, was captured Wednesday night in a bullet-punctuated police chase near Douglas shortly after he had killed his 11th victim, a traveling salesman.

Lincoln officials wasted no time extraditing Starkweather and Caril

Mother of Roscoe Neible Dies

Mrs. Margaret Neible, 88, widow of John Neible, died in her home at Sturgis, Ky., Thursday morning. She was the mother of Roscoe Neible, 112 South Granger street, Harrisburg. She is survived by her two sons and three daughters.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Granger Baptist church near Sturgis, Ky., and burial will be in the church cemetery.

this year will total some half-billion dollars.

Olin Mathieson this month announced a new research development in solid propellants for rockets at its Ordill Works near Marion.

It is our hope that you and your children will be able to point with pride to southern Illinois and Little Egypt as the birthplace of the rocket engines which made spaceborne vehicles possible," Barr said. "It even seems appropriate to name the first such vehicle Moses."

A report on the progress of U. S. Corps of Engineers projects in southern Illinois was given by Col. Charles B. Schweizer, head of the St. Louis district office.

He said a report on the feasibility of going ahead with a detailed study of the canalization of Big Muddy River and Beaucaup Creek should reach Washington in about three months. A favorable report by engineers is needed to keep the proposed project alive, but Schweizer did not announce what his recommendation is.

He said some flood control work is due along the Saline River and that studies are being made on clearing the Cache River to provide drainage and clear farmland.

Schweizer said the Bureau of the Budget has recommended upending $800,000 the next fiscal year for building a dam in the Kaskaskia River basin at Carlyle.

Eisenhower Spikes GOP Move To Dump Benson as 'Liability'

Mothers' March On Polio Here Monday Night

The Mothers' March on Polio campaign will be held Monday evening. Mrs. Jo Ann Chrisman, Harrisburg chairman, urges those who wish to contribute to leave their porchlight on between the hours of 4 and 7 p. m. that the women making the drive might stop by and pick up their donation.

Chairman have been named for the school districts and with their workers will canvass the homes in their areas. Chairmen are:

Bayliss district, Rita Humphrey;
Logan district, Amanda Mitchell;

Horace Mann district, Barbara Feazel;

Dorris Heights, Violet Holland;
McKinley district, Mary Coker;
South Williford, Violet Ledbetter;

Dorrisville, Beulah Glass.

The workers will take their collections to the McKinley school where Mrs. Chrisman will be assisted by Mrs. Callie Morris, polio drive treasurer, and Mrs. Billie Feazel, in accepting the contributions from the workers.

Mrs. Chrisman urges everyone to be prepared to give their donations at the Mothers' march and to cooperate with the volunteer women workers.

The march at Muddy was held Thursday with Muddy school principal Ben Brinkley in charge, assisted by the Muddy school children.

Ray P. Williams Dies at Eldorado; Funeral Monday

Ray Price Williams, 68, 2518 Carman street, Eldorado, a carpenter by trade and formerly a resident of Harrisburg, died in the Pearce hospital at 9:15 a. m. today. He had been a patient at the hospital about one week. He is survived by his wife, Zena; his son, Bob Wanless, Racine, Wis., and his daughter, Mrs. Emma May Herndon, Eldorado. There are four grandchildren and one great-grandchild surviving. He also leaves his brother, Ben R. Williams, Harrisburg, and his sister, Mrs. Ruth Smith, Seattle, Wash.

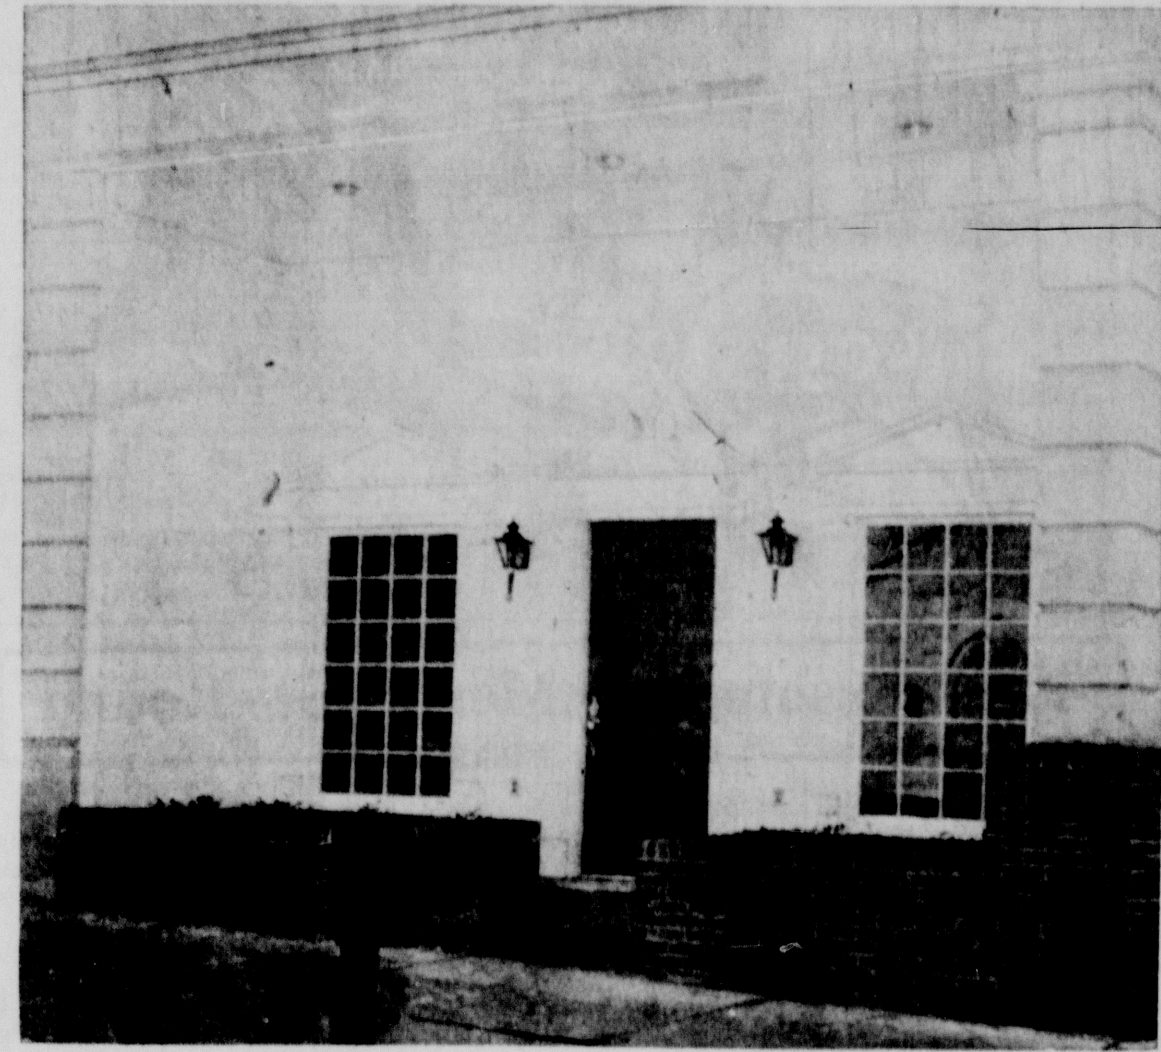

The body will lie in state at the Gibbons funeral home in Harrisburg until 2:30 p. m. Saturday when it will be taken to the family residence in Eldorado to lie in state until the funeral at 11 a. m. Monday. Services will be held in the First Baptist church of Eldorado. Rev. Eddie Hatfield will officiate and burial will be in the Sunset Lawn cemetery at Harrisburg.

Mrs. Russell is survived by her husband, Bartley Russell; her three children, John Russell and Jesse Russell, in the family home, and Austin Russell, Hammond, Ind. There are five grandchildren. She is also survived by her three brothers, C. H. Austin, Carrier Mills, Tom Austin, Carrier Mills RFD 2 and Loren Austin, Thompsonville RFD 2.

The body will be received by the Miller funeral home in Carrier Mills and will lie in state there at 1 p. m. Saturday. Funeral plans will be announced later.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Two men convicted of murder in Saline county and serving life terms in Menard penitentiary, today were denied executive clemency.

They were Charles Gregory of Galatia and James Ryan of Galatia county.

Finance Drive For Development Ass'n Begins

Harrisburg's part of the finance drive of the Saline Valley Development association today was in full swing.

Richard Davenport, chairman of Harrisburg's finance committee, said he had secured a group of solicitors and that in all probability more would be added.

Right now he has Earl Vaughn, Dick Parker, Bruce Polk, Jimmy Thomas, Paul J. Frankenstein, Tom Davenport, Don Medley, Fred Wundlicher and Dwan Fritch soliciting in various business areas.

The funds secured will be used to finance the efforts of the SVDA to attract industry and to promote community development.

One of the first things to be done will be to open a central office in the court house, where files will be kept. A secretary-clerk will be hired to take care of the office.

Heretofore local civic leaders have been doing this work and have been using their own telephones for long-distance phoning.

Mr. Davenport urged businesses, professional men and other individuals to be liberal in their donations, as making contributions to the SVDA is not in reality giving, but is making an investment in the community.

Window cards and smaller wallet size cards will be given to those who make donations. The larger cards, for businesses, professions and those who give larger sums, and the smaller cards, for others, both say "We have invested in the future of Saline and Gallatin Counties through the Saline Valley Development Association."

Highway Bid Is Rejected

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — A low bid for U. S. Route 45 improvement from Carrier Mills south to a point a mile south of Stonefort has been rejected by the Division of Highways because the bid was more than the estimate and the project has been held over to a new letting in February.

Dr. John Elder Choisser to Open Offices in Harrisburg Monday

Dr. John Elder Choisser has announced that he will open an office in Harrisburg Monday for the practice of ophthalmology which deals with eye surgery and eye diseases and the fitting of lenses.

His office will occupy the first floor of the Raleigh building at 225 and Jackson streets, across from the Presbyterian church.

Dr. Choisser had the entire lower floor remodeled and redecorated. The H. E. Mitchell Construction Co. of Harrisburg doing the work. The structure now has a beautiful Georgian Colonial front, with ivy planted in large flower beds.

Inside are: Reception room with early American maple furniture; the receptionist's room, the refraction room, the minor surgery room, and the private office, which has walnut furniture and paneling.

The building is centrally air conditioned, with acoustical ceiling. The floor is carpeted except in the reception and minor surgery rooms, which have vinyl asbestos flooring.

Assisting Dr. Choisser will be Mrs. Joan Rapp of Raleigh, optician.

Dr. Choisser has had many years of general practice of medicine and surgery and is now entering a specialized field. After graduation from Eldorado Township high school he received his M. D. degree from St. Louis University. He practiced one year in Harrisburg, then entered the Navy in World War II and became a naval flight surgeon.

Returning to Saline county he practiced medicine and general surgery at Eldorado from 1946 to 1955. He then took one year of post-graduate training in the eye, ear, nose and throat department of Barnes hospital and one year of training in the eye department of the School of Medicine, University of Miami, in Florida.

Dr. Choisser said his wife and daughter will remain in Florida until the school term ends in June. He said he planned to start building a home in Harrisburg when weather permits.

Lucky Leroy Is Awarded Bronze Star 14 Years After Service

SALEM, Ill.—Raymond (Lucky Leroy) Marvel, who sings over a radio station here, got a letter yesterday signed by President Eisenhower which stated Marvel won the Bronze Star for meritorious and exemplary conduct behind enemy lines.

The citation was issued 14 years after Marvel's 1944 service in the Philippines against the Japanese. He will receive the citation in March, it was stated.

'Big Steel' Officials Report Industry Decline Leveling Off

NEW YORK (AP)—The heads of the nation's two largest steel companies agree that the recession in their industry has run its course.

Neither Roger M. Blough, chairman of U. S. Steel Corp. nor Arthur B. Homer, president of Bethlehem Steel Corp. look for any pronounced upturn just yet.

But they say the decline has turned into a leveling off and that operations in some areas are starting to pick up gradually.

Both companies reported record sales and earnings in 1957 despite drops in the fourth quarter.

Blough, after reporting the financial results of the nation's largest steelmaker, told a news conference U. S. Steel's January business has improved.

He said both his company and the industry in general are currently operating at 56 per cent of capacity and "my guess is that it (the operating rate) will stay in that vicinity in the first quarter."

After issuing the Bethlehem financial report Thursday Homer predicted his company will be operating at 65 per cent of capacity in March, against 60 per cent currently.

Predicts Strong Comeback

He said the industry is getting ready to go forward again after suffering both a decline in demand and rapid depletion of inventories by its customers.

Both companies added to their steel capacity during 1957, and are planning further additions this year. Together their productive capacity accounts for more than 63 million tons or nearly half the productive capacity of the entire industry.

Both U. S. Steel and Bethlehem generally fared better in 1957 than the other steelmakers. "Big Steel's" profits after taxes rose to $419,073,722, equal to $7.33 a common share from $348,098,916 on $6.01 per share in 1956. Bethlehem's net profits climbed to $191,025,933 from $161,411,625.

Has Complete Confidence in Cabinet Officers

President Gives Pep Talk to Members National Committee

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower today spiked any move by Republican strategists to dump Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson as a "liability" in this election year.

The President told members of the Republican National Committee during a breakfast "pep talk" that he has complete confidence in each of his Cabinet officers, thinks all are doing a "fine job," and has no intention of replacing any of them.

Eisenhower also made a strong defense of Benson's flexible price-support program, saying it is an "honest, forthright and sensible" attempt to solve the problem of surplus crops that have farmers caught in a "vicious circle."

"I think that most farmers," he said, "deep in their hearts, recognize the administration proposals as a courageous move to break this vicious circle."

The breakfast was held behind closed doors at a downtown hotel, but portions of the President's prepared text were published by the White House.

Cites Years of Prosperity

Eisenhower, in his formal remarks, called on Republicans to join in a 1958 campaign to win control of Congress by enlisting good candidates, showing faith in their cause—and working hard.

The President spoke shortly before leaving for Augusta, Ga., for a weekend of golf.

The President told his Republican audience, eager for a shot in the arm, that the nation has had five years of prosperity under his administration, a prosperity that has not been altered materially by the recent business decline.

Reiterating his belief that the tide will turn in mid-summer, the President denounced "political Cassandras" who warn of another depression — critics who heretofore have been labelled by GOP leaders as the "prophets of gloom and doom."

All-Day Meeting

"A few political Cassandras," the President said, "pop up regularly to suggest that deep depression is just around the corner and only panicky governmental intervention on a massive scale can stem the disaster."

"We reject this pessimistic doctrine and the lack of confidence it reflects. Republicans have never sold American free enterprise short and never will."

Eisenhower noted that political prophets already are making mathematical calculations to show the odds are running against the Republicans in the November congressional elections.

"But these calculations," he said, "overlook the decisive element: What counts is not necessarily the size of the dog in the fight — it's the size of the fight in the dog."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon was to give the GOP leaders a similar pep talk at a lunch meeting later today. Cabinet members were to submit to questioning at a closed morning session and other party leaders were to be heard on 1958 campaign problems in the afternoon.

The President said the Republicans have a "good cause" to present the voters "in the form of a proud record of past achievement and a lively, thorough, well-balanced program for the future."

The GOP, he said, must not let its story of progress be drowned by "dismal wails of despair" from demagogues like some of those heard in the past five years.

Switch on Tax Cut

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

In the light of the expressed attitudes of the Eisenhower administration over the years, it has been widely assumed that the President or his top financial officers would never propose a tax
cut when the outlook for a budget
surplus was either shaky or virtually hopeless.

Thus Secretary of the Treasury
Robert Anderson occasioned something of a surprise by saying a tax cut might be proposed if the current business downturn grew much worse than it is.

The theory behind this proposal is, of course, not at all new. It is simply that in times when business
demand has softened, a tax cut operates as a stimulus to improvement because it leaves more money
in people's pockets.

A government regime which does not worry too much about deficit
financing might quickly embrace this weapon against recession. But from the outset the Eisenhower administration has been firmly committed to keeping the budget balanced.

Anderson's statement represents a clear departure. For the prospect both in the current fiscal year
and for the coming one is not good for a balanced budget.

Mr. Eisenhower himself forecast
a deficit this year, but predicted
a 500-million-dollar surplus in the 12 months starting in July.

Most seasoned financial observers felt, however, that his prophecy was founded on very shaky
assumptions, and that a deficit
next year was more likely.

One administration assumption was that Congress would agree to substantial reductions in such domestic programs as farm aid. The other was that business would indeed get better in the months ahead.

Few believe the lawmakers will vote slashes in domestic programs
in an election year. Many economists would support the forecast of better business, but admittedly it is guesswork.

Obviously, a tax cut placed together with an already touch-and-go budget situation would create
a strong likelihood of government red ink in the 1958-59 year. For this administration to talk deliberately of moving in that direction
is definitely a turn-about.

Naturally the hope would be that the business response to tax reduction would be so sharp that in time the budget would come back to balance. But it would be just a hope in the beginning.

A Step Too Far

The shaky, misguided government of Indonesia appears bent on putting itself almost as far beyond the pale of decency as Egypt
did when it grabbed the Suez Canal
in 1956.

Having recently, in high-handed fashion, filed fresh phony claims to the Dutch-held portion of New Guinea and seized control of Dutch properties in Indonesia, it now with similar arrogance acts to block
international sea lanes in southeastern waters.

It would do this by extending its "territorial rights" to the 12-mile limit. Normally, national boundaries are considered to reach only
to the three-mile limit.

Indonesia is a sprawling collection of islands fanned out across west over 3,000 miles. Lanes between many of these are too narrow to give other nations free passage if the 12-mile limit obtains.

One effect would be to cut off
Australia and New Zealand from direct sea access to such other SEATO pact nations as Thailand
and South Viet Nam.

The United States has wisely and properly protested this action as a violation of the traditional freedom of the seas.

If this declaration is not rescinded, all affected nations with the requisite naval force may consider accompanying their commercial vessels through inter-island
channels with destroyers or escorts to enforce international law.

Texas leads all states of the Union in total value of minerals produced.

"Get on My Side of the Fence and You'll See Why"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Admiral Rickover May Be
Out Of Navy; Father Of Atomic Submarine Gets In
Other Admirals' Hair, He's Not Consulted On Polaris Missile For Submarines.

(Editor's Note — The Brass
Ring, good for one free ride on
the Washington Merry-Go-Round,
today goes to Adm. Hyman Rick-over, father of the atomic submarine.)

WASHINGTON — This week is the birthday of Rear Adm. Hyman Rickover, son of a Jewish immigrant from Poland, who pioneered
the atomic submarine for the United States.

If you read the still secret Gai-ther report, and if you study the fragile lag in American defense
unearthed by the Johnson committee, you find that the one weapon in which the United States
is definitely and categorically ahead of Russia is the atomic submarine.

The reason we are ahead is the persistent, sometimes plaintive
naval officer who buttonholed superiors, bothered fellow officers,
and kept hammering home the idea of an atomic submarine until at last it was built.

As recently disclosed in the Johnson hearings, Rickover's idea got such a lukewarm reception in the Navy, then still somewhat wedded to the battleship, that he was given as his office a ladies rest-room abandoned by the Waves after the wartime Waves
had subsided.

Furthermore, Rickover was almost eased out of the Navy five years ago. In 1952 this writer reported that a naval selection board had passed him over. This meant that in one more year he would be retired. Here was a man who had put the U. S. Navy ahead of the entire world in the most important naval weapon of modern times. Yet he was to be dropped.

When I published this fact and called it to the attention of the then secretary of the Navy, Bob

Anderson, Anderson stepped in
with what amounted to an order
that Rickover was to be promoted. This was how he became a rear admiral.

RICKOVER MAY BE OUT

Today, however, Rickover again
faces the prospect that he will be dropped. Under naval rules which are as rigid as the deck of a battleship, he has to be promoted again this year. If he is passed over, he is out of the Navy for good.

When Rickover's promotion
from captain to rear admiral came up in 1952, there were overtones that his religion was being held against him. Rickover was born in Poland, came to this country as a boy, worked to help
his father who ran a tailor shop
in the slums of Chicago.

When he got to Annapolis by appointment of the late Congressman Adolph Sabath, born in Czechoslovakia, Rickover was out of step. He was out of step on the parade grounds, out of step at the midshipmen's proms, and out of step at the gold braid cocktail
parties which count with the Navy brass.

He was especially out of step
when he began pounding on doors demanding that the Navy build an atomic submarine. Most of his superiors thought he was crazy.
They didn't think an atomic submarine could be possible for another quarter-century.

But Rickover continued being out of step. A few higher-ups, however, notably Adm. Earle Mills, then head of the Bureau of Ships, and Adm. Chester Nimitz, supported him.

RICKOVER ON SIDELINES
One man with whom Rickover
was at cross-purposes was Rear
Adm. Albert Mumma, one of the Navy's best submariners and a highly competent officer.

Today, Mumma has been promoted to be head of the Bureau of Ships, which is in charge of building all ships, including atomic submarines. It was when Rickover was clashing with Mum-

ma back in the days when an atomic submarine was merely a gleam in Rickover's eye, that he was given an office in the former ladies restroom.

Today the big naval race with Russia is to build an atomic submarine which can launch a missile from under water. Russia has an underwater submarine missile, the Comet. We have none. The United States is rushing work on the Skip Jack, an atomic sub which can launch the Polaris.

In this connection the following significant questions were asked
of Rickover by Edwin Weisl, counsel for the Johnson committee:

"We have heard considerable testimony concerning the Polaris missile. Are you familiar with that?"

"I know there is a Polaris missile, but I am not involved in that
at all, sir," Rickover replied.

"Do you mean to say you were not involved in developing the nuclear submarine that would launch the Polaris?" Weisl persisted, referring to the Skip Jack.
"No, sir," Rickover replied. "I am only involved in supplying components for that submarine.
I have nothing to do with that,
sir, the submarine itself."

"Does it not appear from the record that you are the most qualified man to develop a nuclear submarine?" asked Weisl.

"I think other people will have to answer that, sir."

"But you were not involved in that project?"

The cross-examination continued:

Weisl — "Do you know who is conducting the development of that submarine?"

Rickover — "I know in general.
I know what I read in the newspapers and I know that certain work is going on."

Weisl — "Is your organization
able to perform this work?"

Rickover — "Oh yes, my organization is capable of doing large-scale development work."

Weisl — "You did supply the power plant for the other nuclear
submarine?"

Rickover — "For the first of each type, I not only supplied the entire power plant, I was responsible for the design, development,
and installation—every part of it."

Weisl — "Do you know of any reason why you were not put in charge of this important job?"

Rickover — "That is something that you should ask other people—
not me."

The Rickover of the Army, Col.
John Nickerson, has now been relegated to Panama. Perhaps it we had more Nickersons and Rickovers we would not be behind Russia in satellites and missiles today.

Beazley Is Guest

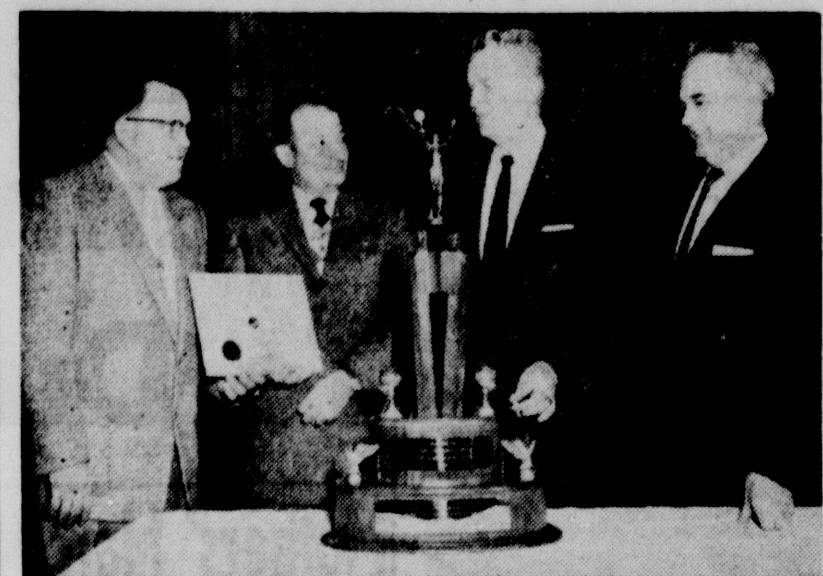

Lecturer at SIU Class

William Beazley, Harrisburg, and David Fackler, Mt. Carmel, were guest lecturers for a Southern Illinois University class in petroleum
geology Wednesday.

As area representatives of the Schlumberger Well Surveying Corporation, Houston, Texas, the two explained to students some of the modern procedures in oil well surveying, particularly those used by their company. The firm's area
office is at Evansville, Ind.

Halliburton Eastern Division Receives Honors for Safety Record During '57

SHOWN AT SAFETY TROPHY presentation to Halliburton's
eastern division are (left to right) Robert Merriman of Harrisburg, field man of the Harrisburg camp; Carl Ashley of Carmi, superintendent over the Harrisburg, Crossville and Mount Carmel camps;
Hosea P. Hearn of Duncan, Okla., regional vice president; and Harry B. Ziegler of Duncan, manager of safety for Halliburton.

Three hundred twenty employees
of the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing company, who helped set a new safety record last year, were represented at Evansville, Ind., Tuesday evening, when honors
were given the firm's eastern division.

Robert W. Mitchell, Halliburton's
eastern division manager, represented the group, as the eastern division was named winner of the 'Nation-wide Employee Injury' contest for 1957.

Halliburton administrators and engineering supervisors from the eastern division met Tuesday evening at the Vendome hotel, Evansville, to accept the handsome trophy recognizing the safety achievement.

"In spite of the hazards that the public associates with drilling operations; such as, fires and blowouts, we have proved that you are safer in the oil fields than at home," stated Mr. Mitchell, eastern division manager, at Evansville. "Our accident rate for 1957,
was the equivalent of one accident
every 1 1/2 years per employee. During 1957, the rate was even better

and we had no major accidents.
This is the third year the eastern division has won this award."

Executives from Halliburton's Duncan, Okla., headquarters were on hand at Evansville, to present
the division an impressive trophy.
The group was headed by Hosea
P. Hearn, regional vice-president and Harry B. Ziegler, manager of safety.

Safety is important to Halliburton and the eastern division, as tops in employee safety among our thirteen domestic divisions, deserves every congratulation, stated
Mr. Hearn.

Thirty-two supervisors in the basin enjoyed a steak dinner provided by the company at Evansville's

tel.

Halliburton is a pioneer well servicing company that operates throughout the world. The division headquarters in Evansville serves the entire eastern division, which consists of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, has offices located at 208 NW Third street, Evansville, Indiana.

Area Students Practice Teach

One hundred and forty-seven students at Southern Illinois University are practicing teaching in public schools during the winter term, according to Dr. Charles Neal, director of teacher training.
Included in the list are four Harrisburg students and one former Harrisburg resident.

University School, SIU's laboratory school and 34 other schools in 15 southern Illinois towns are cooperating in the University's teacher training program, Dr.
Neal reports.

Part-time teaching supervised by experienced teachers is one of the final steps for future teachers seeking bachelor of education degrees at Southern.

Mister Groundhog, Champion Sleeper

John W. Allen
Southern Illinois University
According to an old superstition, some queer kind of an alarm
clock will sound off in a few days
and the deepest sleeper in Southern Illinois, in fact in all the nation, will awaken. As nearly as can be determined, this should occur at eleven o'clock on February second. At that time this champion of slumber is supposed to awaken, crawl to the doorway
of his home and check the weather.

If the recently awakened one finds the sun shining enough to make his shadow, he returns to his bed for another brief nap of six weeks. By this little gesture
he informs us that much winter
weather is yet to come, that spring will be late, and that the crop year will be unfavorable. If,
on the other hand, he can see no
shadow, he stumbles around
some, yawns, and perhaps scratches
his head in order to shake off the hangover from his long sleep. Then he goes out to look for something to eat and soon to find his ladyfriend. Spring is just around the corner and the crop year will be a good one.

Capitalizing both his first and last names, the sleeper mention-

HEADS CANCER DRIVE. Vice
Admiral Francis P. Old, U. S.
Navy retired, vice chairman of the board of Sumner Solitt Co., Chicago, will be state chairman
for the American Cancer Society's April Cancer Crusade in Illinois.
His appointment was announced today by A. E. Patton, president of the Illinois Division. Admiral Old has served in previous Cancer Crusades acting as the chairman of the Government. Agencies Division in 1955 and chairman of the engineering and construction section in 1957. In his post as state chairman, the Admiral will direct the Crusade activities of approximately 100,000 volunteers
in every county of the state. In 1957 volunteer Crusaders raised
$1,608,203.36 for the research, education and service programs of the Society.

ed, is Marmota Monax, also known as a marmot, wood chuck groundhog or whistling pig. Some persons well acquainted with him
shorten the name to "chuck." He is easily America's champion long distance sleeper. Many insist that he also is our laziest animal.
Both his friends and detractors
admit however, that he exhibits activity in two ways. First he digs and keeps a well ordered burrow, one of the cleanest known. Secondly, he is almost constantly eating.

The groundhog, given the name
of his day, spends a busy summer feasting. By the time cold weather is due he is miserably
fat and evidently decides to sleep
it off. For perhaps three weeks
he nods and dozes for a day or two at a time. Apparently soothed by these "cat naps" he settles down in his bedroom below
the freezing line, curls himself
into a ball with his nose protected by his hind legs and bushy tail. Evidently having an un-troubled conscience, he goes into a profound sleep, sometimes lasting three or four months.

Raccoons, skunks, bears and badgers sleep long and well. None of these, however, equal the groundhog. Specimens of ground-hogs in the deepest sleep have been dug from their burrow bed rooms and had their pulse, respiration and temperature taken.
Their pulse, normally 80 to 90 a minute, has been found slowed
down to about 5, with a breathing rate of about 12 per hour and temperature as low as 38 degrees.
Prodding and rolling him about
natters little; he really is sleepy.
With the coming of spring a mysterious something arouses him
perhaps it is hunger, for the fatter and better fed ones sleep
longest.

No one seems to know just how the groundhog came to be looked upon as a weather prognosticator
nor why the second day of February, which also is Candlemas Day, was assigned to him. Perhaps an old superstition that the weather for the next six weeks
of two months could be determined from that of Candlemas Day helped some. Such was once a widely held belief. This is shown by an old English rhyme that says:

If Candlemas Day be dry and fair,

The half of winter's to come
and mair,

If Candlemas Day be wet and
foul,

The half of winter's gone at Yule.

There once were some who could have February 14 as groundhog day. This controversy was settled by the Missouri legislature when it designated the second day of the month as the proper one. There is no mention whatever that the groundhogs
were properly informed.

Shortly after 1900 a group of merry chaps about Quarryville
in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, organized the Slumbering Groundhog Lodge. It was the custom of this group to don silk
hats, take canes in hand and go into the fields to make observations concerning Mr. Marmota Monax. When a burrow was found a proper signal was given and all gathered about it. After careful inspection and noting, the group would return to the village
to properly evaluate and interpret their findings.

Clara Young is a surgical patient at the Harrisburg hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maddox and children, Ricky and DeAnna, were dinner guests Sunday of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maddox, Sr. of Harrisburg.

CLASS MEETING HELD

The Golden Circle Sunday school class held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Nell Hancock Monday night with five members present.

The class president, Mrs. Lora Stubbe, was in charge of the meeting, and Mrs. Marie Price led the opening prayer, after which the song, "Power In The Blood," was sung. Mrs. Gertrude Butler, class teacher, was unable to attend to read the minutes of the previous meeting. The devotion was given by Hallie Waltz, reading the entire third chapter of St. John. The song, "When We All Get To Heaven," was then sung in unison. The treasury report was also given by Mrs. Hallie Waltz, class treasurer and secretary. A testimony was given by each member present, and the closing prayer was given by Nell Hancock.

During the social hour, apple pudding and coffee were served to Mrs. Lora Stubbe, Mrs. Marie Price, Mrs. Hallie Waltz, Mrs. Freda Jarrel and the hostess, Mrs. Nell Hancock.

GRADE SCHOOL HONOR ROLL

The following is the honor roll for the West Ledford school, for the third six weeks or the first half of the school year.

Those students making 90 or above are: eighth grade, David Seets, Kenneth Kolasinski, Joann Pearson; seventh grade, Jerry Hill, sixth grade, Pamela Colbert, Beverly Boaten, Bonnie Killman, James Richard Henderson, Brenda Shelton, Donnie Ray O'Neal and Cecil Flannell; fifth grade, Patty Hill, Linda Carrier, Daniel Guldge, Ronnie Russell, James E. Hancock; fourth grade, none; third grade, none; second grade, Rhonda Marks; first grade, Donna Jo Dudley, Gaylord Yates, Melva Riley, Leonard Ray Bean.

The children's hearing was checked by the Egyptian Health Department recently by Nurse Mrs. Empson. The information on the test will be very valuable to the teachers because they can place children where they can hear the best. The typhoid immunization program will start Feb. 7, at 1 p. m. The second shot will be Feb. 14, and the third Feb. 21.

PHYLIS BOATRIGHT ENTERTAINS BUSY FINGERS HOME BUREAU

Phyllis Boatright entertained the Busy Fingers Home Bureau unit at her home Thursday, Jan. 23, during an all day meeting.

The chairman called the meeting to order, and roll call was answered by a New Year's resolution. The vice-chairman announced a membership committee meeting to be held Feb. 6 at the city hall, and a breakfast March 14 at the Farm Bureau building. An amount of $5.00 was voted to be given to the polio fund.

Colleen Edmondson gave the minor lesson, and Bonnell Hafford and Marvella Sutton gave a demonstration on "Beef In Your Meals." The dishes they prepared were used at the noon meal.

Games were played and prizes were given to Bonnell Hafford and Rita Lane.

A delicious meal was served at noon to Roma Hill, Bonnell Hafford, Mary Lou Shelton, Colleen Edmondson, Marvella Sutton, Rita Lane, Pat Rabourn, Marge Davis, Bea Wible and Phyllis Boatright.

The Handicraft meeting will be held Feb. 13 at the home of Marge Davis, and the regular meeting will be held Feb. 26 at Bonnell Hafford's home with everyone making a Valentine to take.

Officers were held. They are as follows: president, Mayme Williams; vice-president, Anna Mae Rouse; secretary, Avalon Miller; treasurer of dues, Anna Mae Rouse; treasurer of savings, Iva Crittendon; chaplain, Irene Griffin; sick committee, Anna Clingman and Harriet Lee, who is also a new member; and entertainment committee, Peggy Sumner and Avalon Miller.

The hostess served delicious refreshments after the business session was completed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Iva Crittendon.

DORCAS SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS MEETS WITH MRS. AUDIE HENSHAW

The Dorcas Sunday school class of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Audie Henshaw Monday evening Jan. 27, for the installation of officers and the regular monthly class social. Mrs. Gertrude Russell was the assistant hostess.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Juanita Schwartz offered the opening prayer. The devotion was given by Mrs. Olive Davis from the Faith chapter of Hebrews, Chapter 11. She also read a selection from the "Upper Room" and closed with prayer.

Mrs. Pauline Thornton, who was the installing officer, rendered a beautiful, impressive candlelight ceremony using the Cross for the theme.

Mrs. Mary Tanner was the installing chaplain, and Mrs. Maxine Davis and Mrs. Effie Travelstead were in charge of recreation.

Games were played with prizes being awarded Mrs. Juanita Rodecker, Mrs. Olive Davis and Mrs. Muriel Thomas.

Refreshments and favors of tiny woven baskets filled with salted nuts were served to seventeen members and one visitor.

HOME BUREAU MEETS WITH MRS. MARY TANNER

The Home Bureau unit met at the home of Mrs. Mary Tanner recently.

Before the meeting, refreshments of cake and coffee were served. The home adviser, Mrs. Oliver Hunt, gave the lesson for the afternoon on "Combining Dinnerware, Glassware and Silverware."

Mrs. Hunt used illustrations of different place settings, and then showed a film strip of the types of pieces to use together for proper settings. She then put together two or three settings using the silver, dinnerware and glassware.

Following the lesson, a brief discussion and business session was conducted, and it was decided to have an all day meeting Feb. 27 at Mrs. Gladys Goin's home.

The meeting was adjourned at 3. There were ten members and three visitors present.

The scholarship of the young woman named All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be increased to $5,000 and girls who rank second, third and fourth in the nation will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

Judy is active in many CMCHS activities, is president of the senior class, was an attendant to the Homecoming Queen and is an honor student.

Thinking 't Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Hat racks collect some odd head pieces during a busy day. Some of the cranial adornments are large and some are small. Here and there one is fantastic. Some will be mere fluffs of feathers while others will be severely plain.

Our headwear appears very different on our heads than it does on a rack. When hats are worn by people they express moods and indicate personalities. When a hat is disassociated from the person it loses much of its interest.

The Bible on the bookshelf or on a table appears very much like any other book. Some people display their Bibles as ornaments. When the Bible is read by an individual it becomes a part of the personality of the reader. We need to keep the Scripture in our hearts, lest it appear to be only an unused display piece in our libraries.

RUPTURE

Expert Coming Here Again.

R. K. Shallenberger

Nationally known expert will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Colonial Hotel, Harrisburg, Tuesday evening, Feb. 4th, from 5 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Mr. Shallenberger says the Shallenberger method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture and no matter how much you lift or strain, and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.

The Shallenberger Rupture Shield has no leg strap; water proof, sanitary, practically indestructible and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat, which gives a perfect fit and satisfaction.

Large and difficult ruptures following operations especially solicited. Do not overlook this opportunity if you want gratifying results. Mailing address: Angola, Indiana. (Adv.)

TIME: THE PRESENT; place: Main Street . . .

Actually, the time could equally well be yesterday or tomorrow, the place Elm Road or Oak Lane. Boy meets girl is a phenomenon as old as the history of man and as universal as the air we breathe. Courtship follows meeting; marriage follows courtship, and true love grows, with the passing years, through constancy — not only to each other, but also to ideals and goals held in common. Such oneness of purpose is at the heart of happy home life; and the happy home is the heart of America.

LITTLE LIZ

In a small town everyone knows what everyone else is doing, but they read the paper to see who got caught at it.

VIII
The best part of an hour later, replete and at ease, Ward Sebastian leaned back in his chair and began packing his pipe.
Helen Chesbro came over and pulled up a chair. She braced her elbows on the table top, cupped her chin in her hands and studied Sebastian with that grave and penetrating wisdom.
"You brought something back with you this trip that you never did before, Ward. It is in your eyes—a sort of shadow. And not because of what happened at Sheet Iron, either."
Sebastian tipped his head and met her glance.

"Shrewd lady," he said gravely. "I know you won't be satisfied with less than all the story. But I warn you, it is not pretty. You heard about the peace palaver at Natural Bridge?"
"Some," Jeff Chesbro said. "But the town is full of rumors and you don't know what to believe."
"Well," said Sebastian, "nothing peaceful came out of the meeting. It broke up in another ruckus."
"What started it?"
"Same old story, apparently. The olive branch was offered, but strictly on the white man's terms, backed by the eye of a gun looking down the Modoc throat. Under such conditions, the answer was foregone."
"Always, it seems, there is cause for worry," Helen Chesbro put in.
Sebastian's sober glance touched her again. "More than worry for some, Helen. After the row at Natural Bridge, the Modocs split up,

From all the signs, Captain Jack brought most of his people down the west side of the lake to the lava-bed stronghold. They bottered no one along the way. But about a dozen others, led by Scarface Charley and Hooker Jim, cut down the east side of the lake. And they left a lot of blood and tears behind them."
Helen Chesbro caught her breath. "The Laird ranch is over on the east side. Angus, Mary—Lorna—"
The regret in Sebastian's tone turned it very gentle.
"No more, Helen. Mrs. Laird and Lorna are all right. But Angus and Obe Adams—" He shrugged. "Others, too."
"The fiends!" choked Helen Chesbro. "Those filthy, murdering Modoc beasts!"
"No," Sebastian said. "Not that, Helen. When you say such things, you're only thinking once. But when you think again, then you take it back."

"Ward Sebastian, you're not defending—" "No, not defending. Nor blind ly blaming, either," he told her soberly. "For it's always been so easy to blame the Indian for every thing I'm not condoning the raid, understand. Yet, neither am I forgetting all the treacheries and other dirty affairs we whites have been guilty of. Much that the Indian has done, we've driven him to. And in many cases have been fully as savage."
"Of course, Ward, of course! Only, why do things like this have to happen?"
He considered for a moment. "We'll know that, perhaps, when we find the answer to human greed." He pushed back his chair. "Well, there's a couple of people I got to see." A fleeting smile leavened the soberness in him. "I can hear Sam Lester howl now when I tell him about tomorrow."
The girl who opened the door to Ward Sebastian's knock, and who stood limned against the light of a short hallway, was small and graciously made. Her hair framed her head with a smooth sleekness, and her face held a clear perfection of feature. She caught her breath, exclaiming: "Ward!"

He took off his hat, slid out of his coat, then reached for her and pulled her close.
"Come here, girl," he said a little huskily.
For a moment she seemed responsive. Then all the small perfection of her became full of a taut resistance, and with her hands spread against his chest, she forced herself away, protesting breathlessly.
"Ward! Please! There's a time—and a place!"
"What's wrong with this time and place?" He stared down at her and a shade of harshness crept into his tone. "Why shouldn't I kiss you, right here and right now? Anne, when are you going to get rid of this touch-me-not pose?"
She answered him out of a small, shaky confusion.
"It—it's not a pose, Ward. But you—you don't give me time to think. You come in out of the night, almost like a part of it with all its wildness and roughness, and the chill of its wetness on your face. You—you overpower me. Which frightens me. And I don't like to be frightened."
Again he studied her, and a quietness of manner settled on him.
"Sure," he said. "I understand. Sorry!"
As though sensing withdrawal on his part and fearful of it, she caught at his arm, hugged it, brushed a cheek against his sleeve.
"I'm awfully glad to see you, Ward—truly I am. It means so much to have you here!" She clung to his arm a little tighter. "Come in by the fire."

would HE hang clothes to save 5¢ a day?

Suppose you asked your husband to hang the family wash for you ... and agreed to pay him a nickel a day for doing it. You can bet he would "hire out" the job if he could. And he can!

Electricity will dry those clothes for him ... and you ... for an average of five cents a day. Thousands of CIPS customers are getting their nickel's worth (and then some) with electric clothes dryers. Electric dryers give them more time for their families and other more enjoyable activities. Remember—bad weather won't affect your washdays if you have an electric dryer.

Take your husband to see the beautiful, new 1958 models now displayed by your nearest electrical appliance dealer. He'll agree that a nickel a day is a pretty low wage for the job electricity and a new dryer will do for you.

DRYER

IMPORTANT ELECTRIC DRYER INFORMATION

Here are additional facts and helpful suggestions about an electric clothes dryer.

1. Clothes dried in an electric dryer last one-third longer than those dried on the clothes line. It pays to own a dryer.
2. Articles such as Turkish towels, corduroy garments and chenille spreads are much softer when dried in an electric dryer than when dried on a line. It's more pleasant to own a dryer.
3. Clothes dry more evenly. Shirts can be ironed as they are taken from the dryer. It's more convenient to own an electric dryer.
4. Save cleaning bills by tumbling drapes in your electric dryer. Removes dust and lint, leaves them looking fresh and crisp. You save with an electric dryer.
5. The average housewife walks many miles to and from the clothes line each year, and carries 4,000 pounds of wet clothes. It's easier when you own an electric dryer.

Burke Says Tight Budget, Soviet Subs Jeopardize U. S. Sea Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy said today that its tight budget plus the Soviet submarine threat jeopardizes U. S. control of the seas.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, said Russia's growing sea power confronts the West with "one of its greatest challenges."

Burke also told the House Armed Services Committee that budget restrictions have forced the Navy to make "drastic" cuts in some activities in order to find money for modern ships and weapons required to keep control of the seas in U. S. hands.

Burke appeared before the committee with Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. who said this country should "base a great deal more" of its military strength "on and under the sea." The threat isn't solely from long-range Soviet missiles and H-bombs, Gates argued.

Approve Extra Funds
The missiles race with Russia was, however, getting priority attention from Congress.

The Senate Appropriations Committee voted $1,260,000,000 in extra cash to speed missile development and defenses. The Senate is expected to pass the emergency bill — already passed by the House—early next week.

In a move to put a checkrein on Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy's authority over outer space projects, the Senate committee knocked out a provision of the bill which in effect would have authorized him to set up a special space agency in the Defense Department. But the committee left in a 10-million-dollar item he had asked for the agency.

If approved by Congress in its present form, the bill would let McElroy go ahead on military outer space projects. But it would leave for later decision the question of whether the Defense Department or a civilian agency would have overall control over outer space research and development.

Youth Admits 11 Slayings

He then shot Miss King at the cellar entrance and threw her in the sheriff said. Starkweather denied committing an unnatural sex act with Miss King, although pathologists said the girl had been the victim of a sexual attack.

The sheriff said Starkweather confessed he killed August Meyer, 70, a bachelor farmer of near Bennett, when Meyer came to the door later Monday night with a gun in his hand. Starkweather said he assumed Meyer had heard about him and was prepared to defend himself. Meyer was shot and killed as he stood in the doorway of his home.

The next night, Starkweather invaded the fashionable Lincoln home of C. Lauer Ward, 48, the sheriff said. Starkweather shot Ward, president of Capital Steel Works in Lincoln, and fatally stabbed Ward's wife, Sarah, 50, and their maid.

The 11th victim was Merle Collier, 37, Great Falls, Mont., who was shot to death in his car near Natural Bridge, Wyo., late Wednesday.

Starkweather and Carl have been charged by Lincoln authorities with one of the murders, that of Miss King.

Carl, who told authorities Starkweather planned to kill her "when we get to Washington," still was pale and shaken when she arrived at Scotts Bluff county jail here.

Wyoming gave up jurisdiction Thursday after a conference between Converse County, Wyo., Atty. William Dixon and Nebraska officials.

Winds Delay Firing Missile

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Winds up to 210 miles an hour in the upper air threatened today to delay further any efforts to launch the Army's Jupiter C satellite missile.

No other major missile launchings would be feasible, either, if the high air currents continued—and forecasters expected them to last well into Friday morning.

A low pressure area also moved across Florida closer to the ground, where the wind kicked up sharply Wednesday night.

Whatever launching plans may have been in the air Wednesday were quickly blown away. It has been widely rumored, but always officially denied, that the Army is about ready to go with its Jupiter C satellite vehicle, which has replaced temporarily the disabled Navy Vanguard on the testing schedule.

Examinations Open for Civil Service Positions

Examinations are now open for the following positions, the United States Civil Service Commission announces: Field Representative (Telephone Operations and Loans), paying entrance salaries of $5,440 to $6,390 a year, for duty with the Rural Electrification Administration of the Department of Agriculture located throughout the United States; and for Engineer (various branches), Chemist, Electronic Scientist, Mathematician, Metallurgist, and Physicist, paying $4,480 to $12,690 a year, located at the Redstone Arsenal and the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Huntsville, Ala.

To qualify for the field representative positions, applicants must have had appropriate experience or a combination of education and experience. For the engineer and scientist positions, applicants must have had appropriate education and experience (for some engineer positions, experience alone may be qualifying but the adequacy of such experience will be tested by means of a written test). Education alone may be qualifying for the lower grade positions.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from Charles U. Wasson, examiner-in-charge, at the post office in Harrisburg, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. For Field Representative positions, applications should be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. For the Engineer and Scientist positions, applications must be filed with the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala. Applications for both examinations will be accepted until further notice.

Both Sides Agree Mount Vernon Election Corrupt

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP)—Attorneys for both sides in the election trial of Mayor Virgil T. Bailey today were agreed that the election was corrupt.

But both the plaintiff's and the defendant's lawyers insist more illegal votes were cast for the other side.

Defeated candidate Joe Dull has charged that Bailey's 37-vote victory margin in last April's mayoral contest was composed of illegal votes—illegal because some ballots weren't cast in the proper wards, illegal because some absentee ballots were unapplied for, and "irregularities in general."

Fifty-six witnesses were called to the stand Thursday, the first 10 of whom said they voted for Dull. The others refused to disclose their vote on grounds of self-incrimination. So far, 29 witnesses have testified they voted for Dull.

Among those who testified Thursday was Mount Vernon Supt. of Schools J. L. Buford who said both he and his wife cast their ballots for Dull.

A recount of votes, ordered earlier this week by Circuit Judge Randall S. Quindry, was expected today.

"Corruption permeated the election," Bailey's attorneys said, but "more illegal votes were cast for the plaintiff Dull than for the defendant."

Morse Accuses

Jimmie Wise to Head Clarion Staff At HTHS Next Term

Jimmy Wise has been chosen to be the editor-in-chief of the HTHS school paper, The Purple Clarion, for the coming year. Mrs. Shupe, faculty sponsor, made the announcement this week and also stated that the editors are chosen for ability, dependability and interests.

Other members of the new staff will be: Cheryl Wiley, news editor; Janet Gelsky, feature editor; Bob Arensman, associate news editor; Janet Hart, associate feature editor; David Nelson, sports editor assisted by Jackie Vaughn, Larry Smith and Ronnie Maynard.

Advertising manager, Carole Butler, will be assisted by sales manager Myrna Lane and business manager Nancy Anderson. Ed Miller will be photographer and Jimmy Dillon will assist. Terry Irvin will be the new news bureau editor and artists will be Floie Hill and Maridell Armistead. Jackie Vaughn will be in charge of circulation. Julia Tallas will serve as the exchange editor.

The retiring staff includes: Linda Adams and Chris Brown, co-editors; Karen Skaggs, sports editor; Gene Lyon, advertising; Marilee Durham, business; Mary Sisk, circulation and exchange; David Abel, photographer; Peggy G'Neal, and Susan Peak, typists; George Wright, news bureau, and Marcia Pierson, art.

VIRGINIA, Ill. (AP)—Medford Jokisch, Virginia, was killed Thursday and Delbert Scholes, 19, Virginia, was injured when a tractor and wagon on which they were riding skidded and overturned.

Scholes was helping Jokisch move his household goods on the wagon when the accident occurred on an icy hill east of here.

AEC Reports New Tests in Pacific Will Advance Defense Against Enemy Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said today new tests in the Pacific this year will advance nuclear defenses against enemy intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Earlier this week, on Tuesday, Maj. Gen. John P. Daly of the Army's special weapons branch told Congress Nike-Zeus antimissile missile bases could be established by 1962.

Meanwhile, the Air Force has said it will test nuclear explosions in space above the atmosphere to determine their effectiveness against enemy space missiles. Presumably such tests would mean detonation of missile-borne warheads high above the Eniwetok-Bikini proving grounds in the Pacific.

Advance Defense Weapons
In its 23rd semiannual report to Congress, the commission said that Pacific tests starting in April "will advance the development of weapons for defense against aggression whether airborne, missile-borne, or otherwise mounted."

The AEC also:—Announced a program to develop peaceful uses of atomic explosions, including "excavation." The commission believes nuclear blasts deep underground may be used to level mountain ridges and store energy. An underground shot in Nevada last year is believed to have sealed perhaps as much as 60 per cent of its energy in a form which can be tapped. The AEC is now drilling down toward this pool of energy.

—Reported that in 1957 "some firms" dropped out of atomic industry, a fact which "may temporarily deter new firms from entering."

Radioactive Treatments
—Disclosed that more than one million ailing Americans are being treated every year with radioactive materials produced as a by-product of the atomic project.

—Claimed that the United States in 1957 "continued to be the world's leading" producer of uranium, the atomic raw material.

—Reported that production of nuclear explosives and nuclear weapons of all kinds "equaled or exceeded" the goals set for 1957.

—Repeated that, despite Anglo-American laboratory advances reported Jan. 24, the effort to harness H-bomb fusion forces "still is very much in the research stage" and the first fusion power device is still "years" away.

U. S. Diplomat Tries to Kill Self

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomat Victor Purse today was reported recovering from an attempt to commit suicide by inhaling gas.

Purse landed in hot water last year when he accepted a gift automobile for his wife from Arabia's King Saud.

Dr. Grace Purse said her son, former deputy chief of State Department protocol, might have died except "for the grace of God and my maternal instinct" which prompted her to sound the alarm when Purse failed to answer his phone.

She attributed the episode to "family troubles" in which the $3,000 convertible played at least a part.

The 39-year-old Purse was found Thursday on the kitchen floor of his suburban Arlington apartment, wrapped in a blanket and with his head on a pillow. The stove's gas jets were on and the oven door was open.

The diplomat was rushed to Arlington County Hospital where he responded to treatment.

West Frankfort Ailing Players Ready to Play

All ten of the West Frankfort high school basketball players who went home ill Wednesday were back in school yesterday.

Today there were no classes because of a teacher's institute.

A United Press dispatch yesterday which arrived too late for publication said that ten of the 14 varsity members, including the first five, were sent home from school Wednesday with stomach cramps.

It quoted Coach George Iubelt as saying he wasn't sure who would be in the lineup when his 15-2 record team faces Harrisburg tonight at West Frankfort.

A call to West Frankfort this morning revealed that all 10 were back in school yesterday and that most appeared for the practice session after school.

However, it was stated, it was not known yet who would start against the Bull Dogs tonight.

Harrisburg Coach John Dotson still had some troubles, too. Ron Maynard, who broke a finger two weeks ago, is still bothered by the break and is not doing much rebounding at all. Guard Bob Pavlenis injured a toe in practice Wednesday night and it was giving him trouble last night in practice.

West Frankfort currently is leading the South Seven conference, with seven wins and no losses.

Galatia Wins Midget Conference Title with 46-41 Win Over Ridgway

Galatia won the Midget conference basketball tournament by defeating Ridgway in the championship game 46-41 Thursday night. In the consolation game Broughton won from Raleigh 34-36.

Galatia, co-champion with Dorrisville in regular season play with identical 9-1 records, led Ridgway until late in the third period, then the lead changed hands three times and was tied twice until Galatia went in front to stay with 3:20 left to play.

The winners led 11-7 at the quarter and 26-19 at halftime. Ridgway began to drive as the third quarter started and with 2:29 left in the period went on top 32-31. With :45 to go Galatia reclaimed the lead 33-32 and added another basket for a 35-32 advantage after three quarters of torrid action.

At the 4:58 point in the fourth quarter Ridgway went in front 38-37, the score was tied 38-38, Ridgway led 40-38, then Galatia counted four consecutive goals to lead 46-40. Ridgway's final point was scored on a free throw after time had run out as a player was fouled in the act of shooting as the final horn sounded.

Following the game Ben Brinkley, principal at Muddy and vice-president of the Midget conference, announced that the traveling trophy, awarded for regular season play would go to Dorrisville for half a year, then be brought to Galatia for the other six months.

Then N. R. Gullic, Galatia principal and tourney manager, presented trophies to Broughton, Ridgway and Galatia, third, second and first place finishers in the meet.

Sports

By BILL MELTON

Saturday night the Carrier Mills Wildcats will put their 15-0 record on the line against the Carbondale Attucks Bluebirds (17-4). The game will be played at Carbondale.

The 'Cats will have a double reason to desire victory. A win will keep Carrier Mills as the only undefeated team in Egypt and also would be revenge for a defeat suffered just a year earlier by Attucks, which broke a Wildcat winning streak.

On Feb. 1, 1957, the 'Cats (17-0) entertained the Bluebirds (18-1). In a thriller-diller Attucks won 51-50.

Every fan that attended the two sessions of the Saline County Tournament knows there was lots of good basketball on display.

But I wonder how many realized some of the finest play was by boys who will be back for two or more years.

John Stone, a regular in the Harrisburg lineup, is only a sophomore. Joining him as second year men in school are Bill Smith and Gary Taborn of Carrier Mills.

Jack Muckley, who played quite a bit for Eldorado is a freshman. Perhaps the player with the brightest future of all is "Peck" Boyett, 5-11 sparkplug on the Galatia team. He is just a freshman and shows promise of being a "wheel horse" in every sense of the word.

Other than a lack of height, a starting lineup of Stone, Taborn, Smith, Muckley and Boyett would be pleasing to a lot of coaches.

Stonefort is entered in the grade school district basketball tournament to be played at Chittiville Feb. 3, 4 and 6. Stonefort drew Creal Springs for a first round opponent. They will play the second game of Monday night's session.

Teams in the tournament are Energy, Freeman Spur, Stonefort, Creal Springs, Pittsburg and Chittiville.

Double Duty

Garrison Newsom Entertains SIU Fans With Basketball Play, Singing

CARBONDALE, Ill.—Southern Illinois University basketball player Garrison Newsom is not only entertaining SIU fans with his basketball ability but also with his halftime singing.

The double duty of singing and playing came last week as he stayed on the floor during the halftime of the SIU-Austin Peay game to sing in several numbers by a campus quartet, the Kappaleers.

This added bit of effort, which drew as much applause as his playing, did not seem to affect his basketball ability. Newsom led both teams in scoring with 24 points even though he spent the last seven minutes on the bench as SIU easily won, 89-71.

"If he can hit like that all the time," said SIU Coach Lynn Holder, "he can sing at all our games."

Given Starting Assignment
Less than a month ago, Newsom, a native of Shawneetown, wasn't even on the traveling squad and spent most of his time playing in Junior-Varsity games. In fact, he hadn't scored a point in varsity play until he was given a starting assignment as SIU played Ft.

ling something, I try to adopt it.

"For instance, when I was playing Ft. Leonard Wood, I noticed that the player I was guarding, Bill Ridley (former University of Illinois star), had a special way of bringing the ball down the sidelines. I used that same technique against Austin Peay last week. Once it opened the opponents for a setup, another time I got two free throws.

Like Other Sports
"I'm always looking for new ideas," concluded the good-natured Newsom, who can usually be found smiling.

Looking ahead toward a full slate of games in February, Newsom said, "We (the SIU players) have set our goal at no less than second in the conference, and we are really out to beat Western (the unbeaten league-leader) when they play here Feb. 15."

Newsom still has fond memories of when he was a first-stringer

on the 1956 Shawneetown high school basketball team when won 31 straight games before losing in the quarter-finals of the state tournament. "The biggest thrill of all," he added, "was when we beat Herrin the sectional after Herrin had a 10-point lead going into the final quarter."

A history major, Newsom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivory Newsom, RFD Shawneetown, hopes to teach after graduation and possibly do graduate work in either history or law.

Although it is his favorite, basketball is not his only sport. He likes to play baseball, swim, and play ping-pong, and he lettered in cross country at SIU his freshman year.

Junior High Splits Games at Benton

Harrisburg divided a pair of Junior high school basketball games at Benton Thursday night. In the seventh grade game Harrisburg won a close one 47-46 but in the game that followed Benton's eighth graders were the victors 42-27.

Harrisburg finishes the season Tuesday night, hosting West Frankfort.

Proposed Sports Anti-Trust Law Faces Plenty Of Argument in Congress

WASHINGTON — Two words spelled trouble in Congress today for a proposed sports anti-trust law.

The House anti-trust subcommittee approved a "middle-of-the-road" bill to place business aspects of professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey under anti-trust regulation.

The measure stems from a legal turmoil over whether sports are subject to the same anti-trust laws which apply to big business. In 1953 the Supreme Court ruled that baseball was exempt from the laws. But last year it held that football came under the statutes, and implied that hockey and basketball did too.

After long hearings on the matter last year, the House judiciary subcommittee Thursday came up with a bill aimed at straightening out the situation.

It would make anti-trust laws apply to commercial aspects of professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey — for example, ownership of parks, or interest in several teams in the same league.

But the bill would specifically exempt activities which are "reasonably necessary" to the equalization of teams in a league, the guarantee of territorial franchises and the preservation of public confidence in the honesty of sports contests.

Here is where the argument arises: Whether to require sports to show that these activities are "reasonably necessary" to the three aims. As stated in the bill, or simply "relating to" them, as proposed in an amendment by Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.).

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) chairman of both the subcommittee and the full Judiciary Committee, said the exemption as drawn was aimed at permitting sports to continue their player reserve clauses, player drafts, farm systems, and other activities which might otherwise be ruled "trade restraints."

Warriors Trip Celtics, 116-96

By United Press

The Philadelphia Warriors, fighting to regain the third and final playoff spot in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association, hope to break Boston's home court winning streak tonight.

The Warriors defeated league-leading Boston, 116-96, in the feature game of a Philadelphia doubleheader Thursday night to climb within a half-game of the third place Knickerbockers, who were idle. However, the scene changes to the Beantown tonight, where the Celtics have taken 17 straight this season.

In the opener of the twinbill at Philadelphia, Detroit held off a late Syracuse rally to whip the Nationals, 87-83.

Vern Mikkelsen's two free throws with seven seconds remaining gave Minneapolis a 104-103 victory over Cincinnati.

Detroit will face New York in the opener of tonight's twinbill in Boston and St. Louis will play at Cincinnati.

All-Star Team Selections Taken from Fans

By United Press

Major league ball players reacted favorably today to a new All-Star vote plan that puts them on the spot and the fans in the role of "second-guessers."

Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, predicted the vote eventually "will be returned to the fans" but other comment was unanimously in favor of Commissioner Ford Frick's decision. Frick announced Thursday that the 1958 All-Star teams will be picked by a poll of managers, coaches and players because of the "farce" created in last year's fan balloting.

"It's my opinion, after the new plan receives a thorough trial, the results will require the devising of a method to return the selections to the fans," said Paul. "I'm sorry to see the game taken away from the fans... it belongs to them."

Bank Resources Up

CHICAGO — (UP) — The combined resources of all United States banks have increased nearly eight billion dollars since June, 1956, according to the Rand McNally International Bankers Directory. The final 1957 edition of the directory showed that bank resources totaled $249,300,000,000 as of June, 1957. In June, 1956, they amounted to $241,500,000,000 (B).

Fishing Licenses To Increase On February 1

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Cost of fishing will go up $1 a person in Illinois on February 1, but Director Glen D. Palmer of the state Department of Conservation declared today the increase will show its effects in improved angling.

Hunting and fishing licenses in Illinois expire on January 31 each year, so the director issued a friendly warning today to ice fishermen and those in areas of the state with open water to be sure they have the new license, come the first of next month. Fox hunters and those who use the shooting preserves would do well to secure a new hunting license, too, Palmer said.

Under legislation passed by the 70th General Assembly last year, the fishing license fee was raised to $2. The extra dollar has been earmarked for permanent improvements in connection with water development and fishing. None of the extra money can be used until July 1, 1959, because it must be appropriated by the next session of the legislature which will be in session during the first six months of 1959.

In the meantime, Palmer said, the fisheries division of the department will be planning new permanent developments to improve and increase angling throughout the state.

The Truth About Air Ride

-and why it's better
in a Buick

Every window of every Buick is SAFETY GLASS.

Most cars have always used horizontal leaf springs. Some use horizontal torsion bars. For two decades, Buick has used nothing but upright coil springs at all 4 wheels for better, softer cushioning. And to get the most out of these buoyant upright springs—to bring additional solidity, balance and stability to the ride—Buick developed a new kind of chassis. This exclusive Buick chassis has the rugged roadability of a massive X-braced frame and the true-tracking steadiness of Buick's Rotoflow Torque-Tube Drive. Developed and perfected by 20 years of experience with upright springs, Buick's Miracle Ride Chassis today turns out to be a "natural" for replacing upright coil springs with upright air springs. It's this exclusive chassis engineering experience that gives you in Buick the smoothest, most advanced, most experienced air ride* in the world.

*Buick air ride optional at extra cost on all Series.
